No Man is

No man is an island,
No man stands alone . . .
The individuality of a person is essential to maintain self respect and dignity, but working with and for a unit that is accomplishing something is also a vitally necessary part of life. Living in a vacuum and existing only for one's self is, in a way, undoing the efforts of men before us who have contributed their time, effort, and lives in order that a civilized society could exist.
Each man's joy is joy to me,
Each man's grief is my own . . .
Everything that we do to make others happy or sad through our own actions eventually has a far-reaching and long-lasting effect.
We must become aware that the millions of people outside our own individual worlds are somewhat dependent on us just as we are on them.
We need one another . . .
In times of crisis, as well as triumph, we must act as one united group rather than isolate ourselves with fear and suspicion.
For I will defend,
Each man as my brother,
Each man as my friend.

With green skirts spread about her, Granger High School majestically stands beckoning students of different interests, faiths, and backgrounds. Despite these differences, however, the students are united in friendship, knowledge, and love for Granger and all she stands for. Her halls ring with laughter, and calls echo. Stillness finds its way to her classrooms where knowledge is offered. Her auditorium doors invite students to the world of entertainment, frolic, pep assemblies, and cultural programs. All of these things have helped to develop our fond school day memories which together have served as our Educational Island.

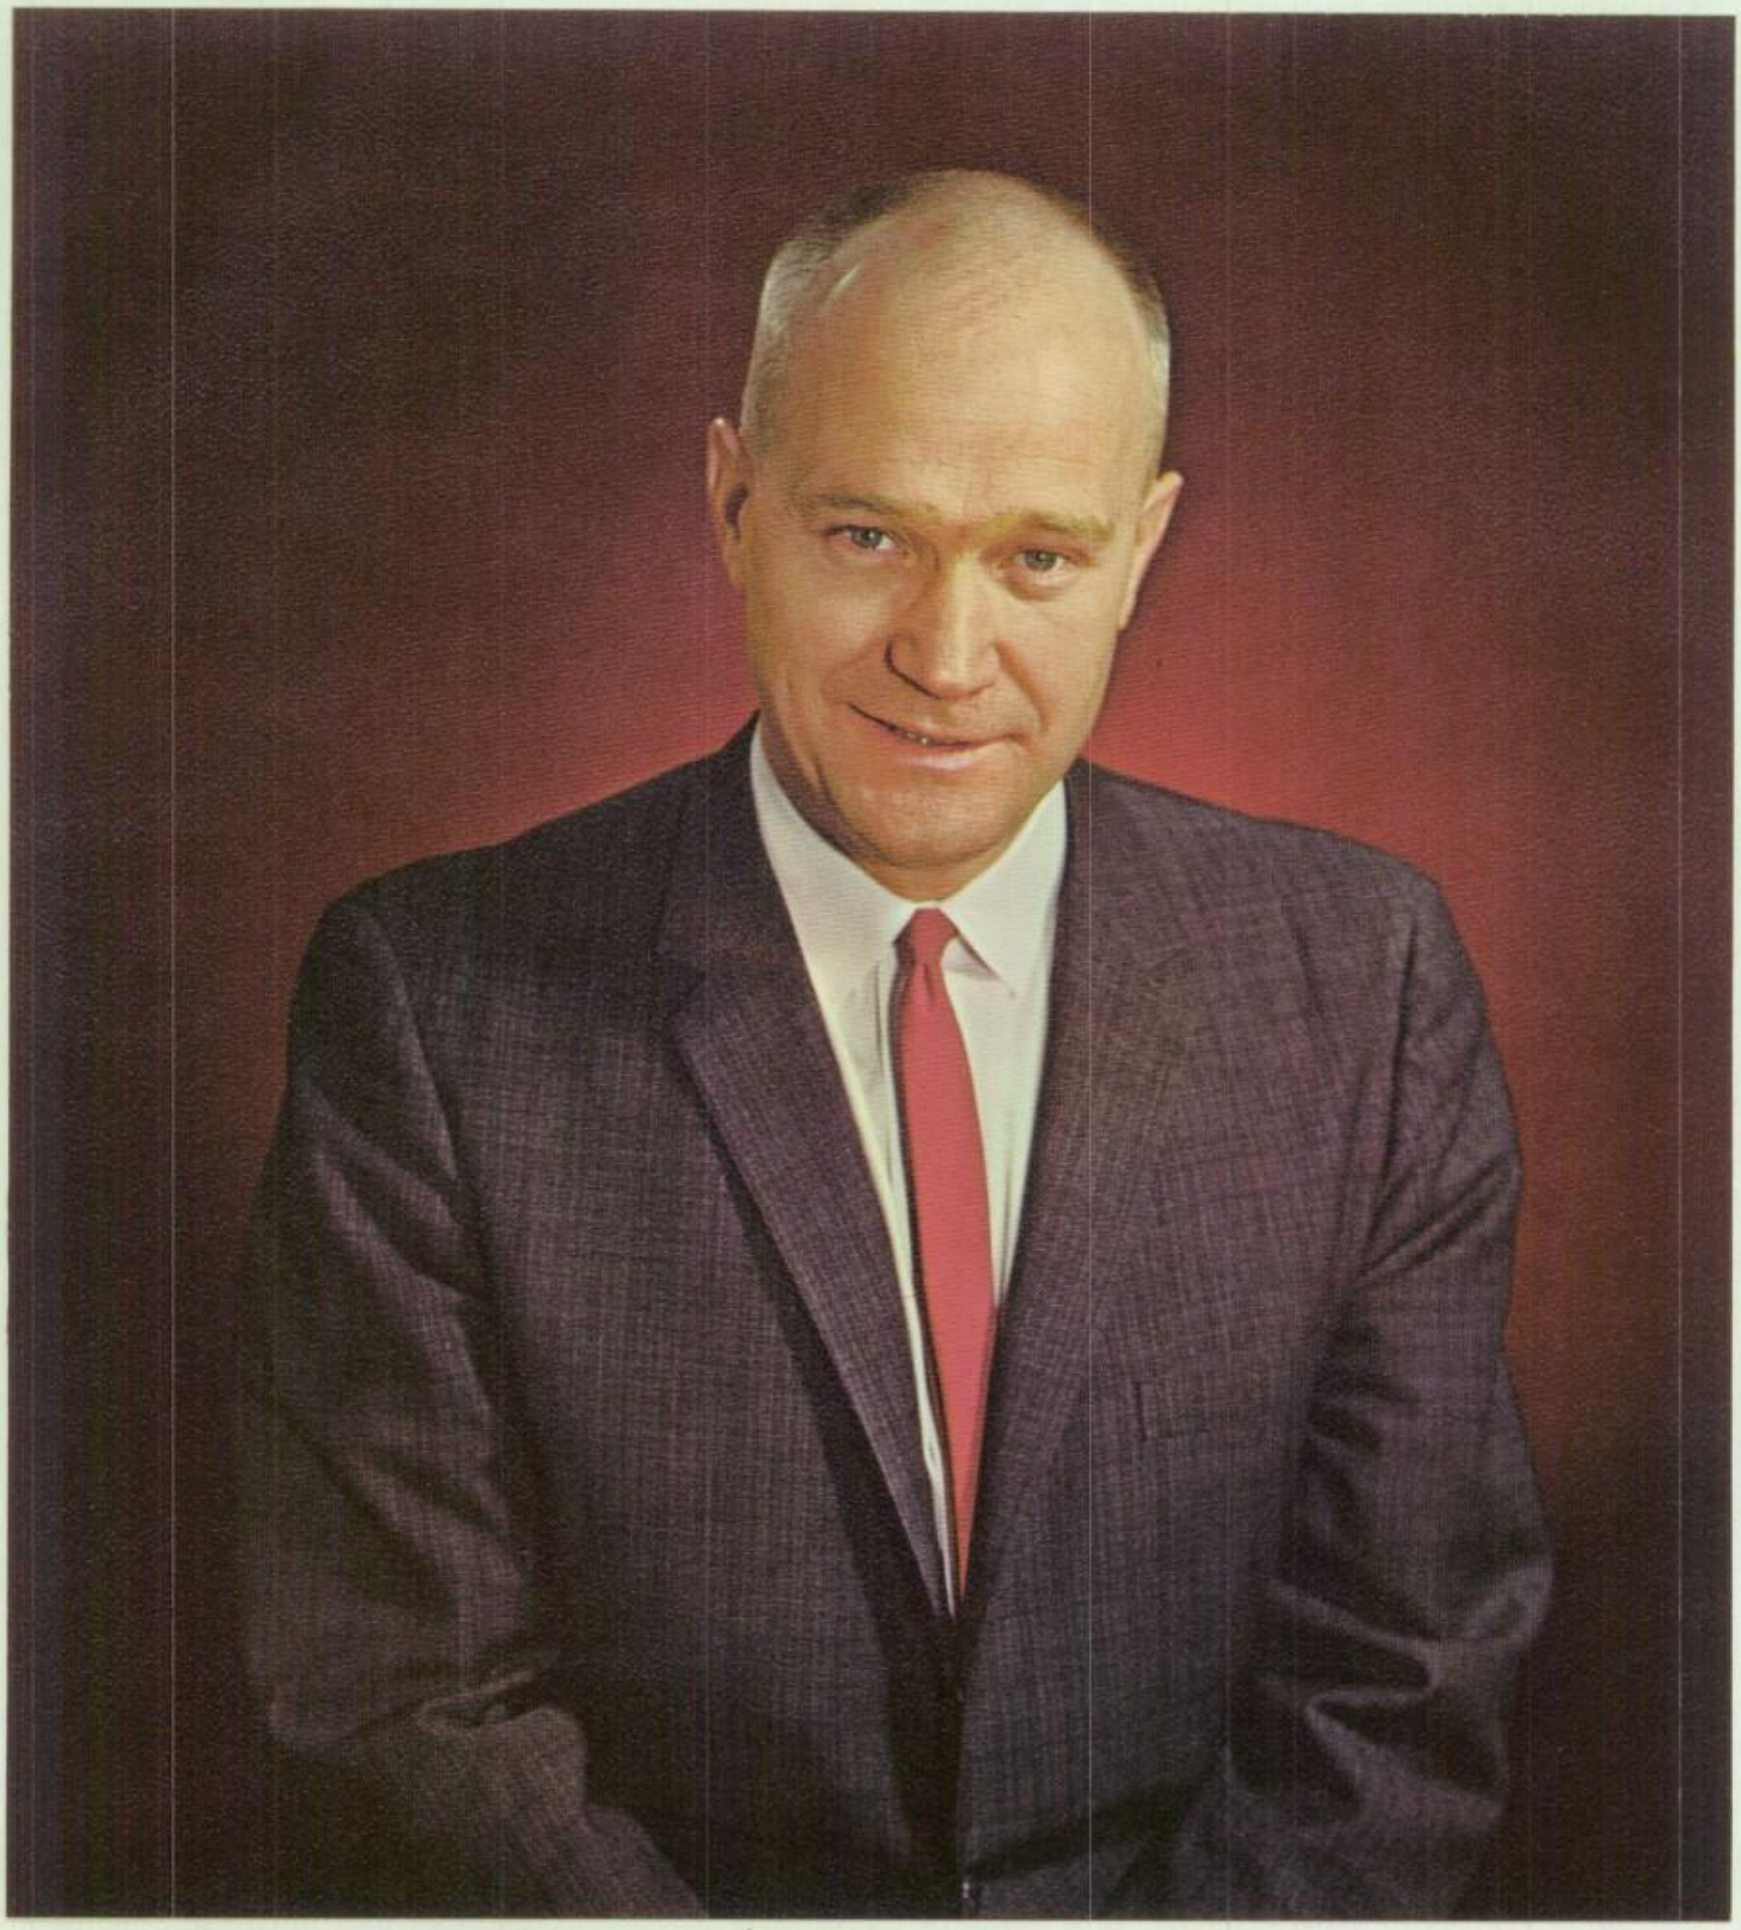
Principal Madsen

achieves his Doctorate Degree



A man walks across the stage, the audience rises, and the sound of applause echos throughout the auditorium.
This takes place every time Dr. Gibb R. Madsen prepares to address the Student Body of Granger High.
It is their way of showing respect and admiration to a man who well deserves it. He is a leader both in thought and action, exemplifying the good citizenship he expects from the students. Having received his Doctorate Degree this year, he shows that educational advancement is essential to a progressive world.

"May I come in, Mr. Smith?" This was a new sound heard in the attendance office this year. The promotion of Mr. Burton to Administrative Assistant and the appointment of Mr. Smith as Attendance Counselor, were two outstanding events which occurred in our counseling staff at Granger. With the guidance of Mr. Lee, Miss Eskelson, and Miss Walton, the problems of registration, scholarships, and the general everyday problems were handled with interest and understanding.

Office Staff

efficiently handle school affairs

"Good morning, Granger High School." Throughout the year this warm and friendly greeting welcomed callers to Granger, and to the helpful guidance which they were to receive from our office staff. Supplying students with necessary equipment, taking charge of the attendance records, and assisting the administration in school activities were their main responsibilities this year.

Cafeteria Staff

planned nourishing meals

With pleasant smiles, Lavonne Grant and Fern Robinson did their share to keep Granger growing. Well-balanced meals were planned and served daily to the faculty and students of Granger High.

Maintenance Staff

kept Granger shining

Clean halls, shining windows, and spotless classrooms were the result of hours of tireless effort to keep Granger looking its best. Thanks to the maintenance staff, Granger usually presents a very attractive appearance.

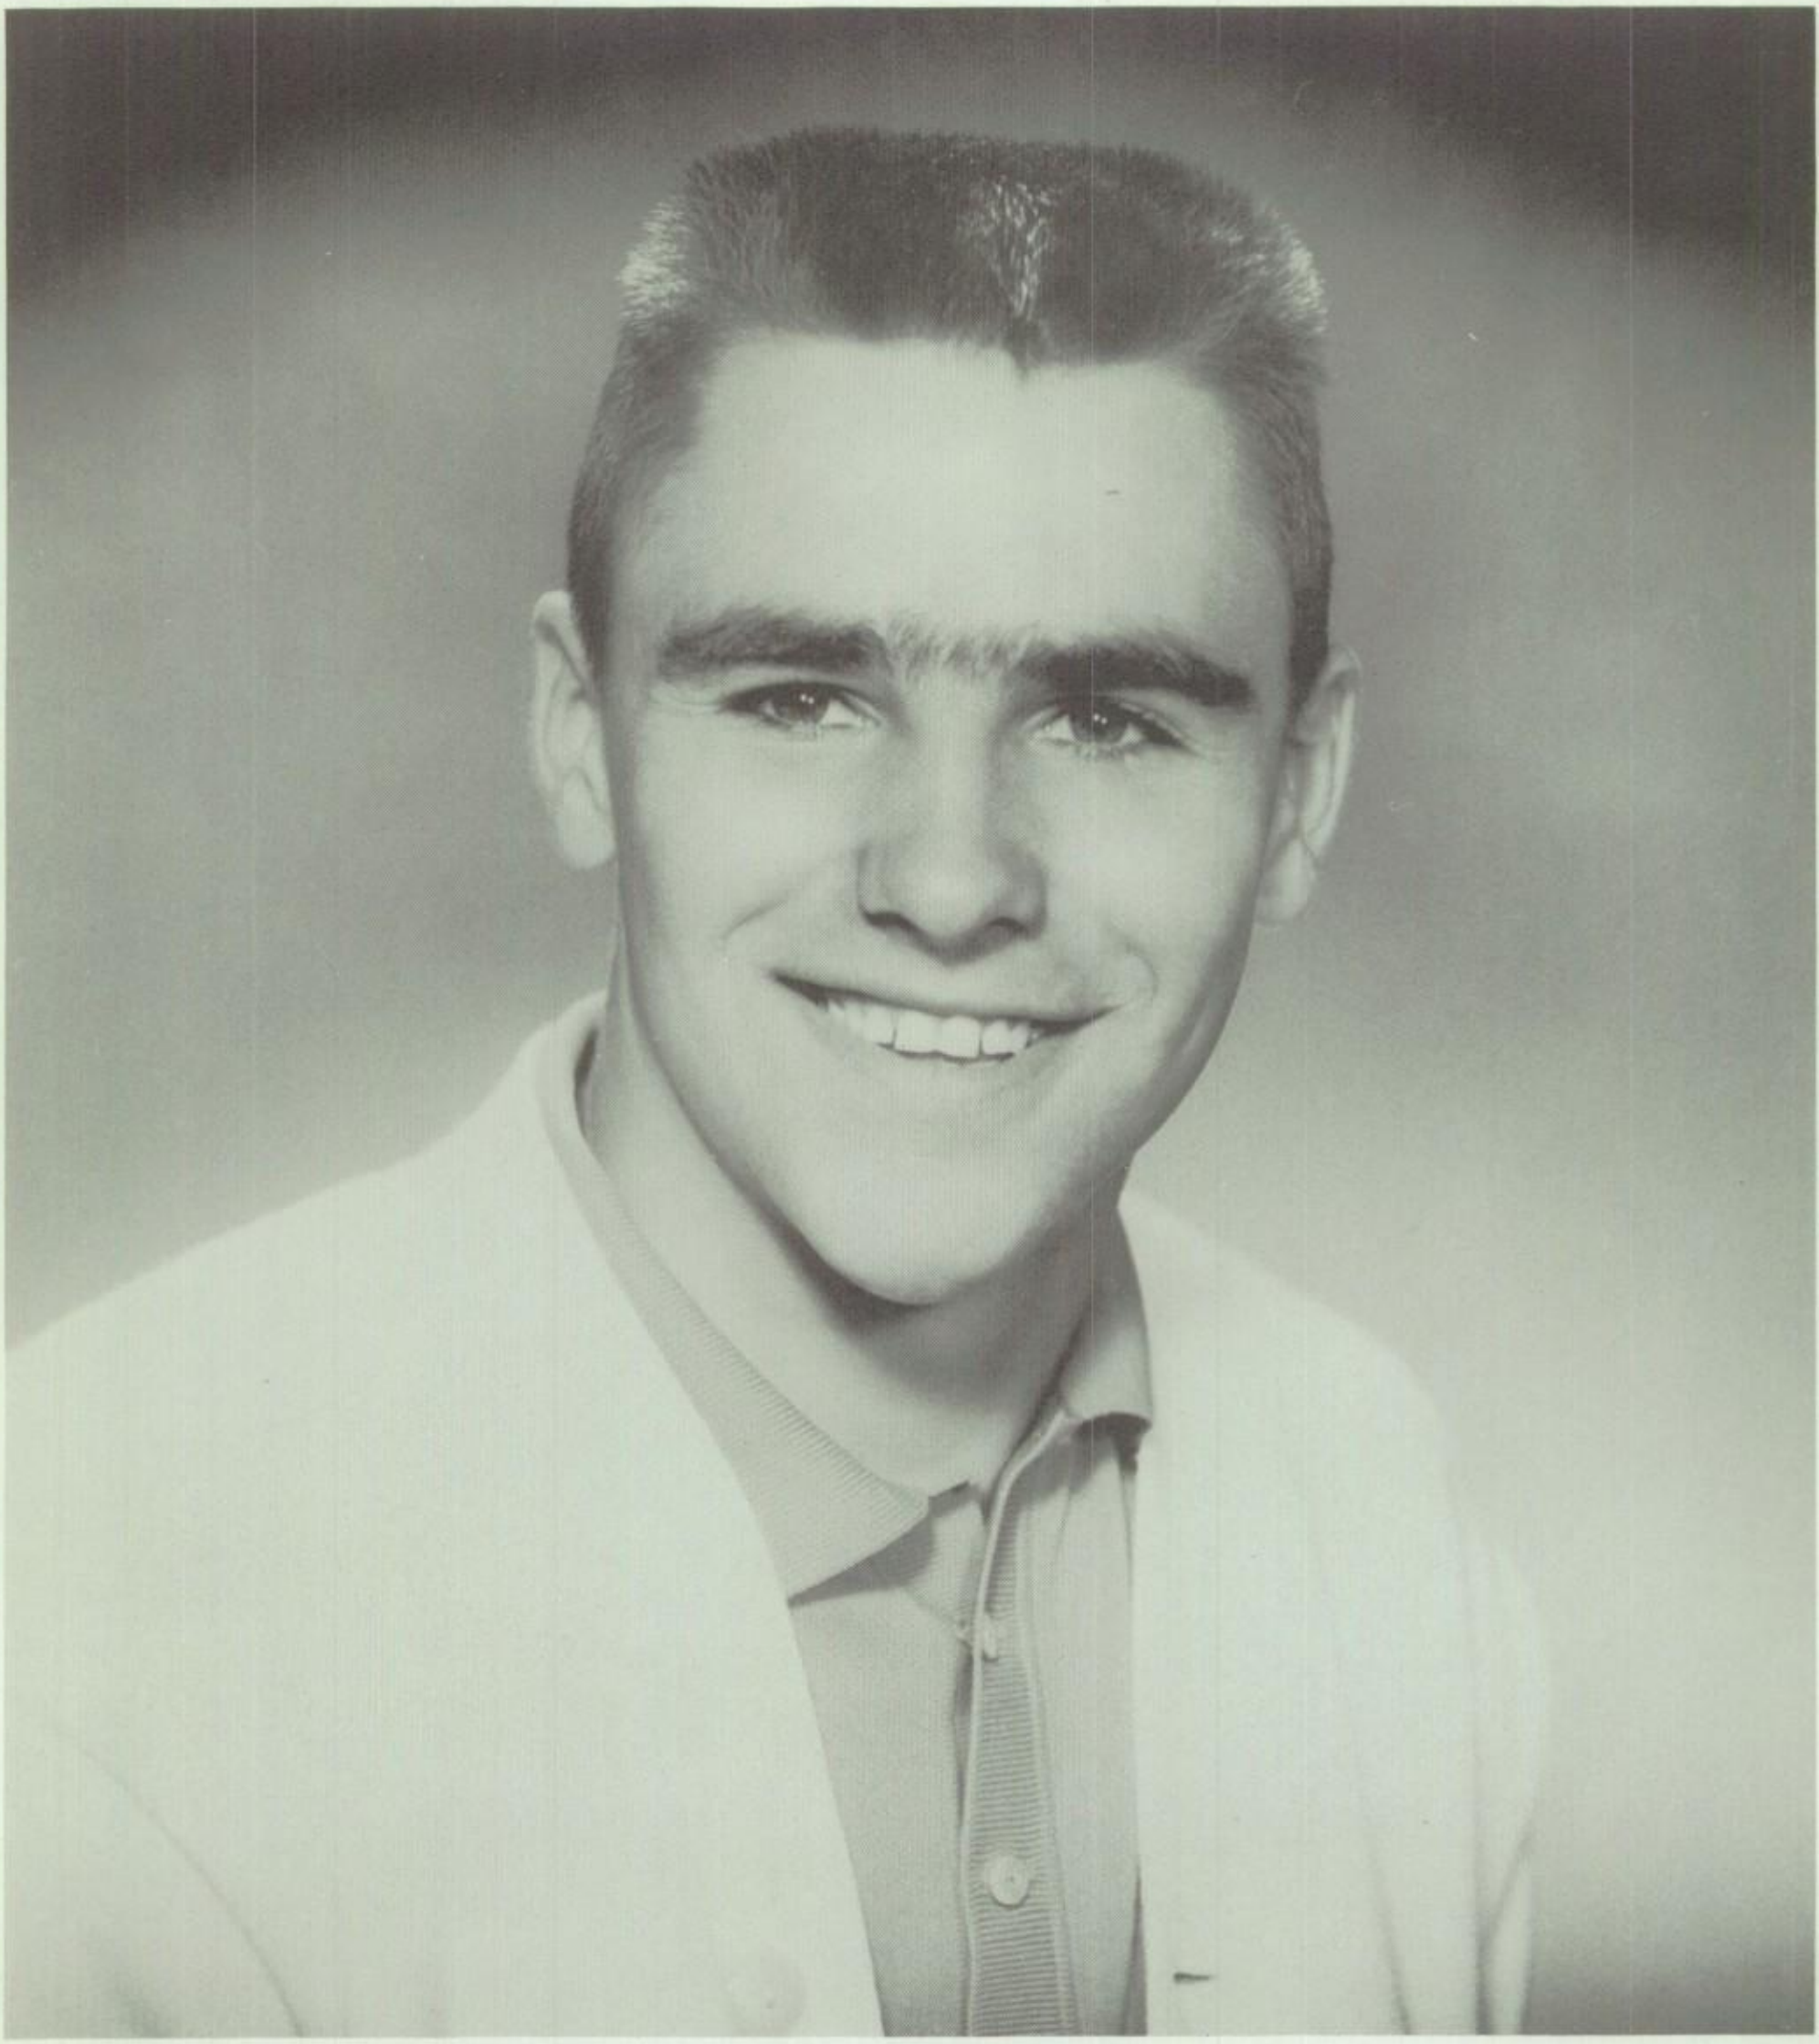
encouraged higher educational goals

The aim of parents and teachers alike was to help students become the capable leaders of tomorrow. In an effective program, officers of the P.T.A. planned meetings, consultations, and panel discussions which played an important part in bridging the gap between home and school.

Bus Drivers

transported students safely

These seemingly undaunted bus drivers have the responsibility of making sure that seventy per cent of Granger's students arrive at school on time. Although students may not always admit it, they are indeed grateful to these prompt, dependable men.



"Each man as my brother, each man as my friend." These few words express the attitude of our student body leader and president, Doug Pearce. With his special talent for gaining friends and making everyone feel needed and important, Doug has led the way to unity and progress during the school year. He has established an enviable record in student body leadership and his ability in athletics helped gain repeated victories for Granger High in the field of sports. Sharing the spotlight in leadership and responsibility are Karl Teeples and Roger Wood. These two fine officers have made possible many successful student activities. Acting as student body secretary, Sandra Riley has been an important asset to our student government. Together, Judy Foster and Virginia Parrish have kept an accurate record of school functions and activities. With this eventful and descriptive history, this past year is one never to be forgotten.

Student Government

Democracy! Freedom! Unity! These cries have resounded across America ever since the formation of this government. Granger also has created a new government for a democratic school system, consisting of the Student Council and the Round Table with Miss Fellows as advisor. Student Council members are appointed from each home room and meet together to solve the problems that confront a growing student body. The Round Table is an elected group, comprised of the student body officers and a representative from each class. This organization helps plan class activities and participate in the safety program

They also sponsored the Safety Dance, Safety Week, and the Reliability Run.

Girls' Teen Association

Good morning to you; Good morning to you; Good morning Big Sister; I'm glad to see you. This tune was heard many times throughout Big and Little Sister Day, the event that started out the year for the Girls' Teen Association. The Doll Drive, Daddy Date, Mother's and Daughter's Tea, and the annual dance and assembly were part of the events that helped carry out the theme of an activity a month, planned by this year's officers.

Neat goatees, peach fuzz, side burns, and wirey beards describe the scene at Granger High during the annual beard-growing contest. A "Smokeless Smoker," dance and assembly also were highlights of the activities sponsored by the Boys' Teen Association. Frequent meetings were held to discuss school problems and to plan interesting activities. As a special service to school and community, the boys are starting plans for the construction of a bomb shelter under the school. Cooperation and dedication by their officers made the Boys' Teen a success.

Pep Club

promoted school spirit

Mark time! Left! Right! Shoulders back! Exaggerate! Knees high! To a pep club girl these are well-known instructions; and from their helter-skelter practices emerge colorful marches of which the Lancers may well be proud. As they performed their intricate dance marches and well-precisioned drum marches at each home game half-time, our Trianons, dressed uniformly in crimson red and columbia blue, inspired onlookers.

Cheerleaders

encouraged student participation

Determined to make 1961-62 Granger's best year in sports, the enthusiastic cheerleaders . . . Lana, Barbara, Kitty, Helen, Ruby, Connie, and Marcella . . . earned the admiration and respect of all Lancers. Serving to unite the student body by cheering the team to victory, they have worked hard to perfect their intricate routines. "Let's try that one again," was heard often as they timed difficult cheers. Dressed in the school colors . . . crimson, columbia blue, and grey . . . they drew strong support from all students. Through losses and victories the peppy seven always promoted good sportsmanship.

Left to Right: Diane Bingham, Susan Orr, Karla Knight, Margene Gehring, Bernice Dilley, Jeannene Mecham, Jackie Foster.

J. V. Cheerleaders

promoted J. V. game attendance

With traditional songs and yells, Jackie, Jeannene, Susan, Bernice, Karla, Margene, and Diane created spirit which boosted the Junior Varsity Basketball Team to many victories. Dressed in smartly-styled gray vests over white blouses complimented by striped red and gray pleated skirts, these peppy J.V. Cheerleaders spent many hours in practice. They performed vigorous routines which sparked student enthusiasm, helped to create unity and good sportsmanship, and promoted J.V. game attendance. The snappy seven bounded through a 1961-1962 basketball season full of thrills, disappointments, and triumphs.

C. A. P.

learned group co-operation

According to the theory of aerodynamics . . .

Drill and precision work, under the instruction of Mr. Rokich, filled the curriculum of C.A.P. members. Having the responsibility of raising the flag every morning, the flag detail performed an outstanding service. The drill team throughout the year made periodic field trips to the aviation installations and regular flights around the valley. Granger's ground maintenance team is the only unit in Utah with actual assignments of disaster operations, and it has been credited with several successful missions.

Photographers

captured exciting moments in pictures

Putting the activities of Granger High into pictures was the work of the active and competent photography staff. Ringing through the halls, the soprano, alto, tenor, and base voices of the senior choir combined to create festive music for the enjoyment of all. Singing for Christmas programs, performing for traveling assemblies, and taking part at festivals gave the members experience in appearing before an audience and taught them the value of working harmoniously.

Junior Choir

"note"-worthy efforts appreciated

"Note-ing" another exceptional year as skilled representatives of Granger were the Junior Choir and the Boys and Girls Glee Clubs. Under the competent direction of Mr. Hailstone, these students, with song as their grindstone, polished tarnished voices to master a variety of numbers and improve tone quality. With this came the shouldering of responsibility to produce true Lancer spirit. These three clubs added their final music touch of quality to numerous activities which included a special presentation of the Messiah, the district music festival, and various assembly programs.

high-stepped their way to fame

High-stepping their way through the Peach Day, Utah Homecoming, and Santa Claus Parades, the Marching Band achieved fame and recognition with their unique routines and music. Enchanting compositions captured the delight of many audiences as the Orchestra performed well-planned programs. Booming with enthusiasm, the Pep Band sparked school spirit by accompanying the cheerleaders in traditional songs and yells. Sparkling melodies were brought to life by the Dance Band, which created a mood to dance among fans at both school and church socials. The spring festival highlighted a glorious year of overtures, marches, and pep music for the instrumental music department.

The Shield

highlights an eventful year

In this crowded and busy world, it is vital that each man and woman be concerned with the welfare of mankind. This has been our message to the student body in the 1961-62 Shield. For a school year to be successful, it is necessary that students remember, "no man is an island." Portrayed in these pages is an account of such a year. The adviser, editors, and staff members wish to express appreciation to the teachers and students for their cooperation. Our sincere hope is that each student will treasure the year reviewed in this year's Shield.

U. N.

represented the studied Denmark

Making preparations to represent Granger at the Model United Nations' meeting, club members began the year with their initiation by dressing as people do from foreign countries. Later each person worked to acquaint himself with Denmark's government, customs, and policies. They gained favor at the Model U. N. meeting by conversing intelligently and each student benefited from this experience. Mr. Haacke, sponsor, and Dennis Lombardi, president, efficiently guided the members.

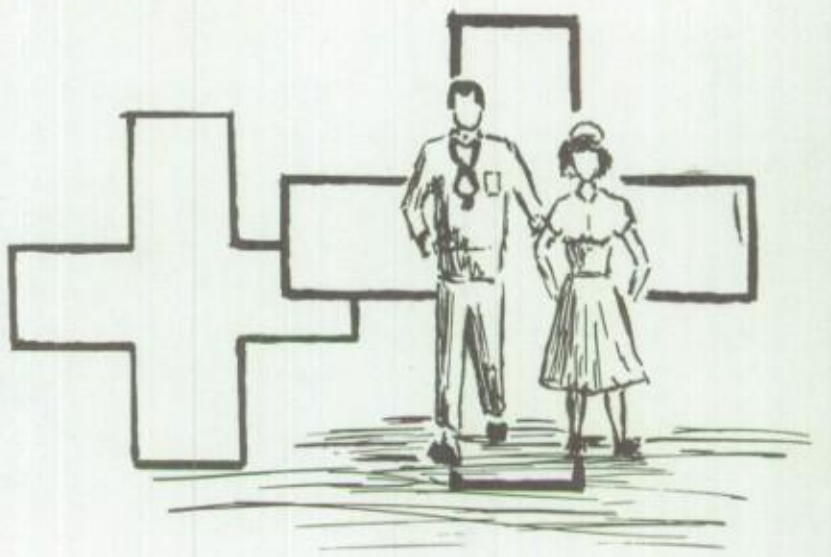
lent a helping hand to many Service, both at home and abroad, provided a busy schedule for Red Cross members and officers, with Kathy Thomas, president, and Miss Walton, sponsor. Holiday decorations at the Fort Douglas Veterans Hospital cheered many lonely patients; a Yuletide program remedied some heartaches at St. Joseph's Villa, a rest home for elderly people; and gifts distributed at the Primary Children's Hospital caused eyes to sparkle with delight. An album of Granger High activities and a chest filled with "goodies," to be sent to some foreign country, completed a most successful and rewarding year for this group of unselfish students.



Drama

displayed talent in a fine play

Melody Jones, the comedy drama presented by G.H.S. Thespian Club was well-received. Ruth and Nathan Hale, renowned authors of Melody Jones and other plays, honored these students by polishing the presentation. Also on the Thespian Club curriculum were field trips to some of the outstanding plays sponsored by the University of Utah. Mrs. Cropper, sponsor, and David Pelly, president, led the active, hard-working yet fun-loving group.

Debate

discussed vital issues with other schools

What should be the role of the Federal government in education? This and other important questions were debated by Granger youth at meets with other schools. Mrs. Siddoway, capable sponsor, and Larry Schieving, president, led the enthusiastic Debate Club. Student members were able to express themselves on vital issues of our government's future. Not only did this club bring honor to Granger through presentations at meets with other schools, but also, it enriched the members' lives, gave them a better understanding of the government, and provided them with opportunities to meet other Utah students.

Latin Club

discindi causa veni

The fascinating history of Latin, root of all romance languages, has particular appeal to those attempting to master it. Drawn together by this common interest, Latin Club members increased their knowledge in an enjoyable manner at meetings and parties. By studying a dead language they gained a greater appreciation of their own every-day English.

French Club

repetez ecoutez et apprenez par coeur

Enthusiastic students of the French Club joined to share their common interest. They met often to increase their fluency in, and knowledge of the French language. Bonjour, welcomed the members at the beginning of the year; Au revoir sounded as it ended. Mr. Campos, advisor, and Martie Crabtree, vice-president, proved capable leaders in the absence of the club president, Claudia Smith, who was injured in an automobile accident.

Spanish Club

bienvenido a nuestra organizacion

Enthusiastic members of the Spanish Club concluded a very profitable and enjoyable year. Promoting projects designed to acquaint members with cultures of Spanish people, this organization, under the direction of Miss Palfreyman, proved to be a complete success for all who were involved in its parties, dinners, and regular club meetings.

German Club

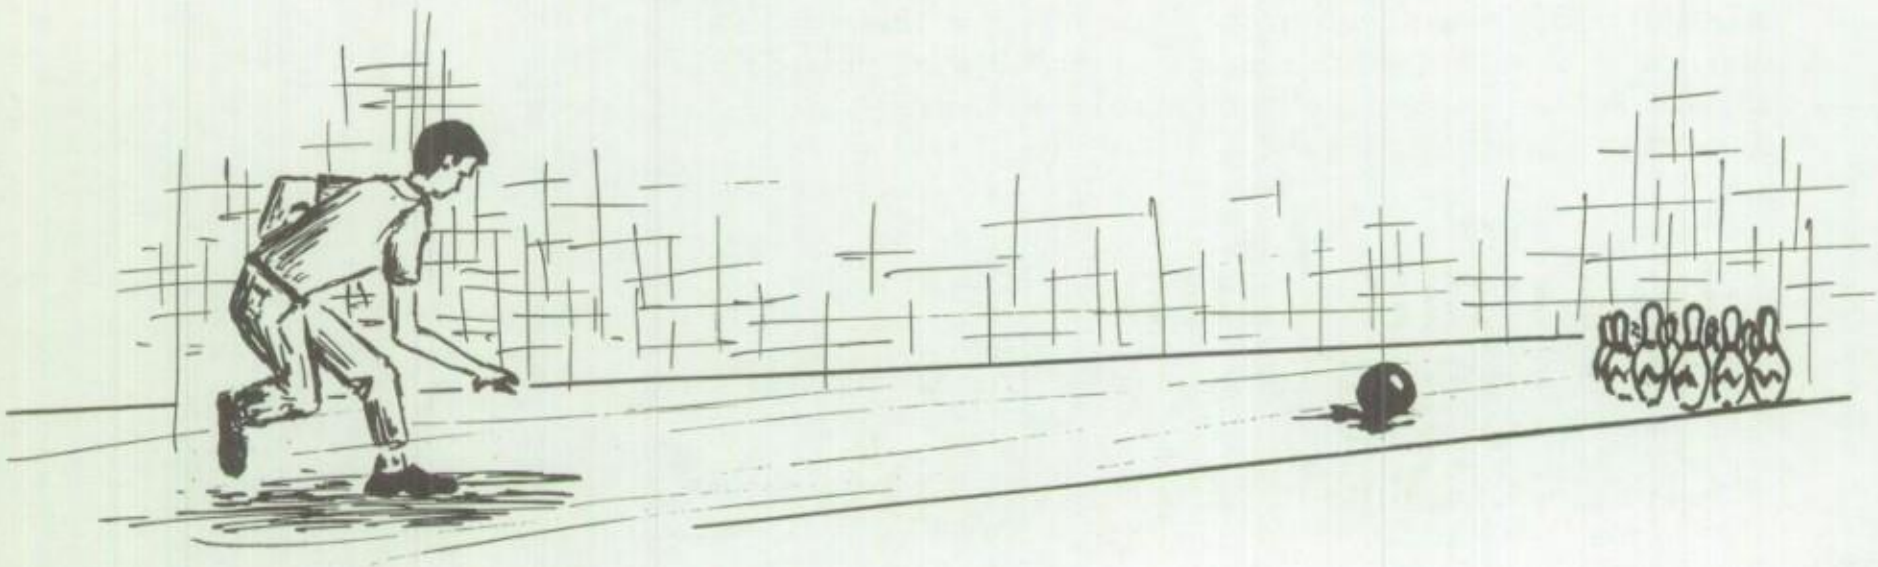
herzlich willkommen zu unser "Deu tshce Verein"

A full program of activities throughout the year has given the German Club and its members a chance to gain an understanding of Germany, its customs and traditions. Guided by an outstanding sponsor, Mr. Pettersson, and its dedicated President, Leigh Cropper, the club, according to tradition, has made its annual visit to the Primary Children's Hospital, held dinners, parties, and sponsored the unforgettable German Club initiation.

Bound and determined to bring the Roaring 20's back to life, these flappers not only did the Charleston, but the Cha-Cha and other dances. Although perfecting dances for their own enjoyment was the main desire of this club, small groups have cooperatively displayed their talents before many varied audiences.

Charleston Club

Granger's most original club

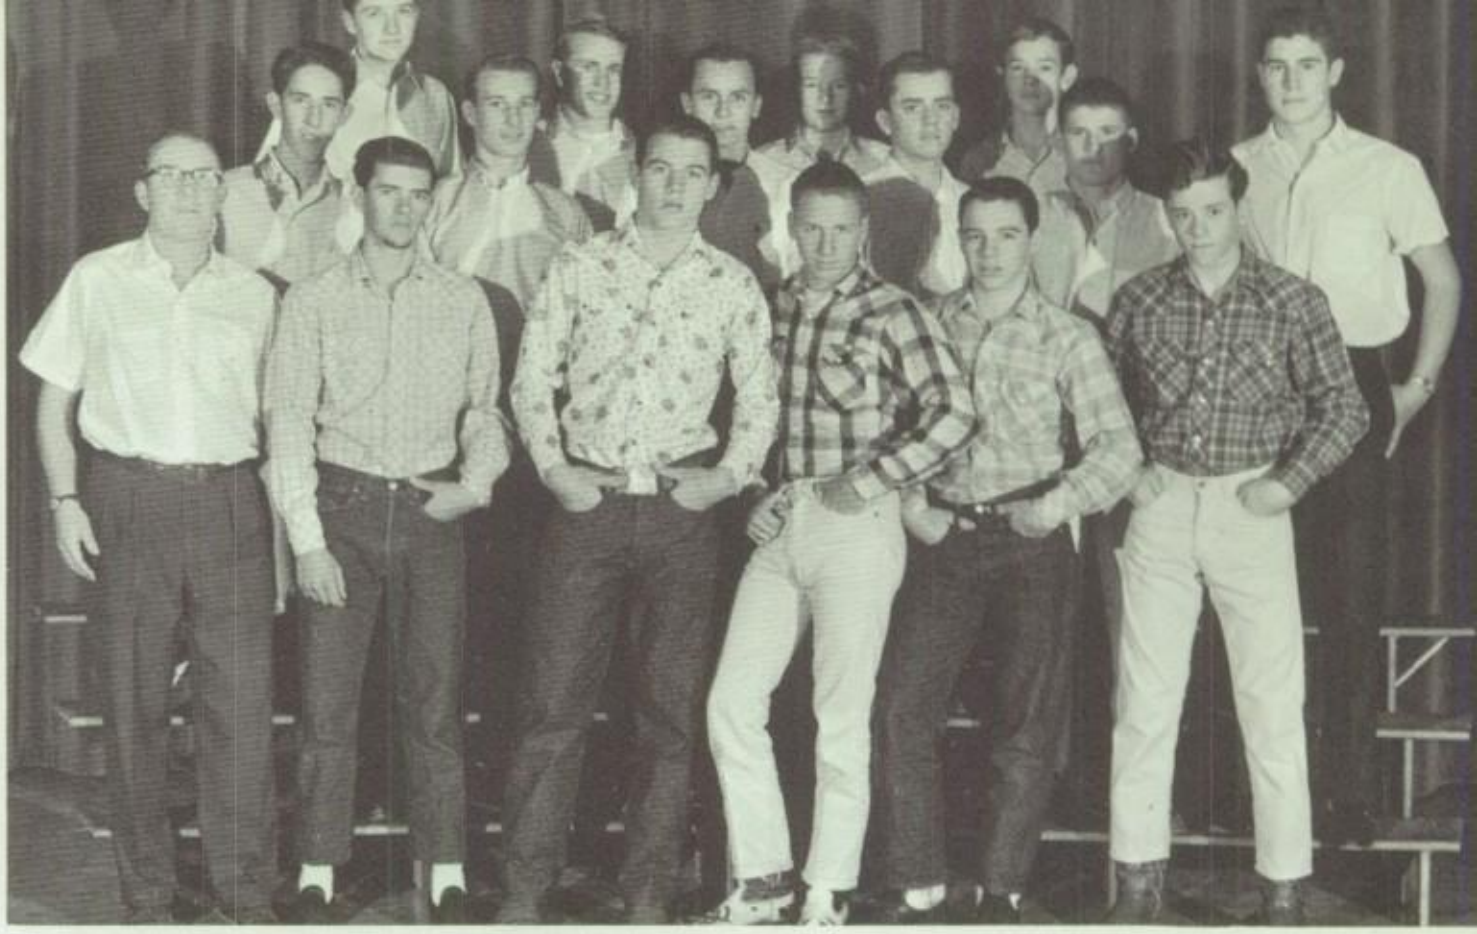


Bowling Club

promoted sociability

Make that spare! Students responded to this call enthusiastically every Tuesday and Thursday at the Delton Lanes. To raise their averages and to have a good time were aims of these active bowlers.

Spirit of the Old West was revived at Granger by the members of the Rodeo Club. Being rather inactive during football season, the boys made up for it by competing in the High School Rodeo at Brigham City during the springtime. A bucking barrel was set up to give Rodeo Club participants a chance to practice.



Rodeo Club

Granger's rough riders

Archery Club

instilled spirit of achievement

Bow and arrow enthusiasts, sponsored by Mr. Maxfield, held competition and went rabbit hunting to prove and improve their skills. Some talented members went so far as to make their own bows and arrows in shop.

Drafting Club

drew technical sketches

Making plans and figuring dimensions for the bomb shelter kept the Drafting Club busy. In addition to the field trips taken to industrial firms, the club met once a week to provide a well-rounded year.

Lance Club

upheld good sportsmanship

Through good sportsmanship and cooperation, the Lance Club won victories and recognition for our athletic association. The Lancers proudly wore their letter sweaters and jackets representing Granger High.

Electronics Club

tomorrow's scientists

Following in the footsteps of Bell, Edison, and Franklin, the Electronics Club not only worked with electricity, but also made intricate electronic equipment. These young men are truly this generation's gift to progress.

Art Club

developed appreciation for the arts

Sketches, murals, posters, scenery for assemblies, and decorations for dances were among the projects of our busy Art Club. A better understanding of the creative arts and a spirit of fun and friendliness were created through these many skillful accomplishments.

F.H.A.

developed homemaking skills

Future Homemakers of America began their busy and fruitful year with a solemn candlelight ceremony initiating all new members. Other highlights included the very successful Harvest Ball, which they co-sponsored with the Ag. Club, and a highly entertaining February assembly program. LaDean Hatch, president, and other diligent members made a beautiful quilt for Miss Wight, their sponsor. Mrs. Zimmer is also a sponsor. These girls also undertook a worthwhile project of painting Granger's garbage cans. Everything from bread to candy tempted Ag. Club boys who judged the baking contest. Boys, here is your chance . . . ambition, talent, good looks, good cooking rolled into attractive packages.

AG Club

sponsored annual donkey ball game

Contributing to Lancer activities is the traditional Agriculture Club. Along with the F.H.A., the Ag. Club co-sponsored the successful Harvest Ball.
The fun-filled Ag. calendar consisted of a December sleigh riding party and a game at Hi-land Dairy. Spring festivities included a donkey basketball game and Agathon day at Utah State University. Mr. Brady, sponsor, and Dean Halladay, president, actively led the outstanding year for these club members.

"They can't afford a carriage."

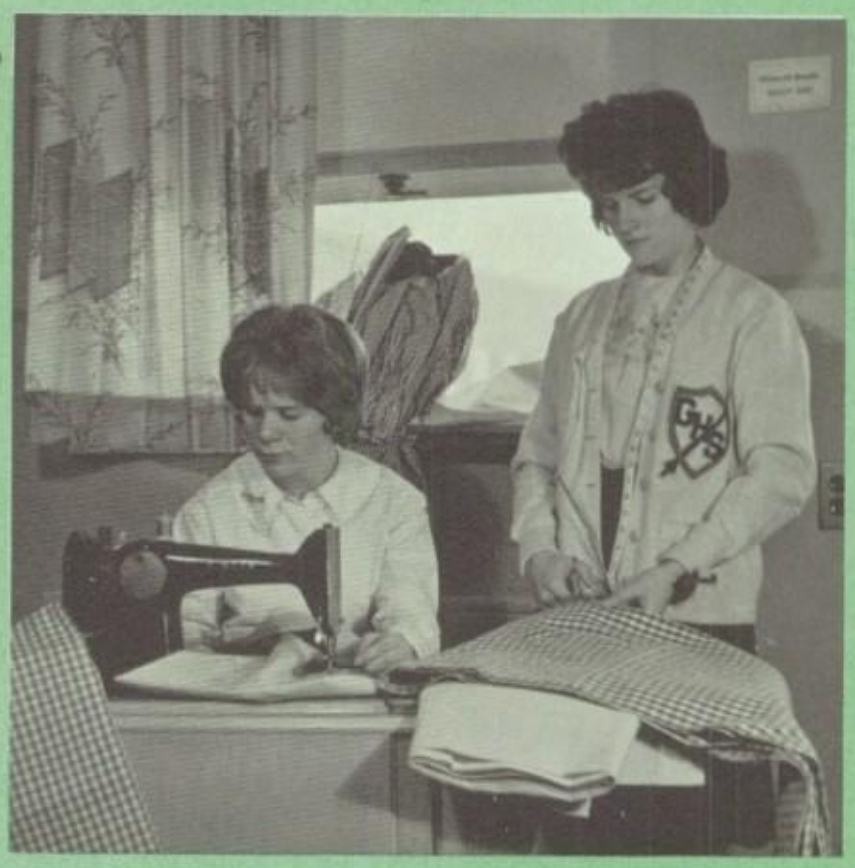
"Doesn't anybody want to meet a sweet old-fashioned girl?"

Ballade

. . . presents a Twilight Serenade

Music of the deep South performed in southern setting.

Shari Given gracefully performs a classical ballet.



Joyce Wolf and Marcella Johnson were co-chairmen of the Ballade's busy costume committee.

As the sun sank low in the sky, the sounds of a "Twilight Serenade" were heard. Beginning with a comical beach scene depicting the good old days, traveling by showboat through the South, and concluding with a romantic setting in the park, brought to life the various moods of twilight. Adding to the excitment and enthusiasm was the individual and homeroom competition for prizes and parties. May 4th and 5th will be a lasting memory not only for the students of Granger High but also for the many patrons who saw and enjoyed this exceptional student production.

Assemblies

brightened the school year

With lights dimmed and attention focused, the 1961-62 assemblies passed in review: The spine-tingling junior class assembly and the hilarious senior "Jack Poor Show" offered sparkling entertainment. Cultural programs included such well-known personalities as Lawrence Winters, John Goddard and Dr. Robert Kadesch. Pep assemblies led by enthusiastic cheerleaders aroused school spirit that carried over to state games. The Globetrotters and traveling assemblies introduced Lancers to new talent. All these served to broaden school life and add just the right variation to make the year complete.

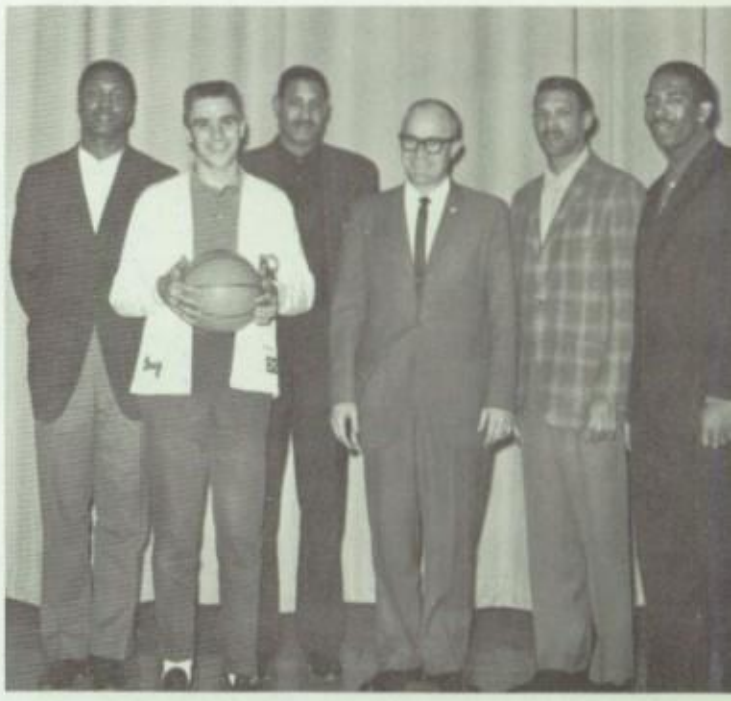
Maypole Maidens swirled on F.H.A. production.

Hallelujahs resounded on the Christmas Program.

"I give thee beauty," on the Girl's Teen Assembly.

Popular alumna Diana Salazar returned.

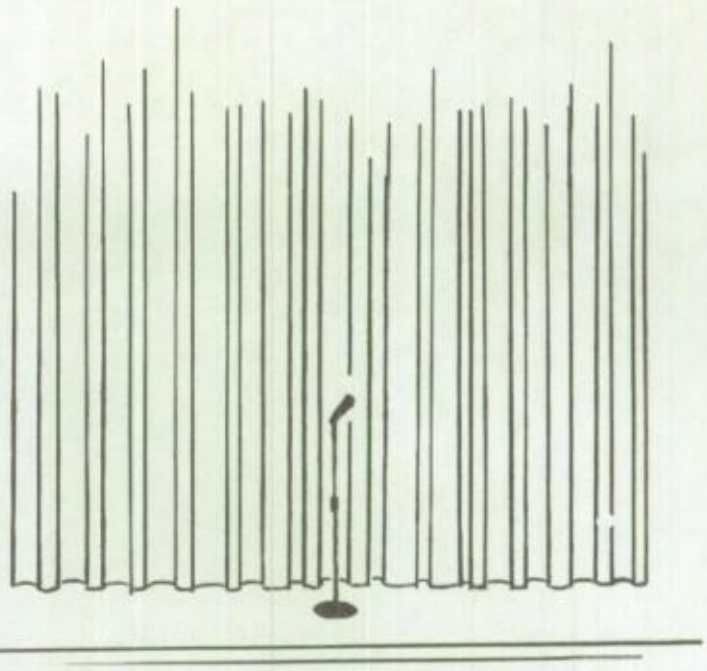
"Fifteen for the Pep Club"



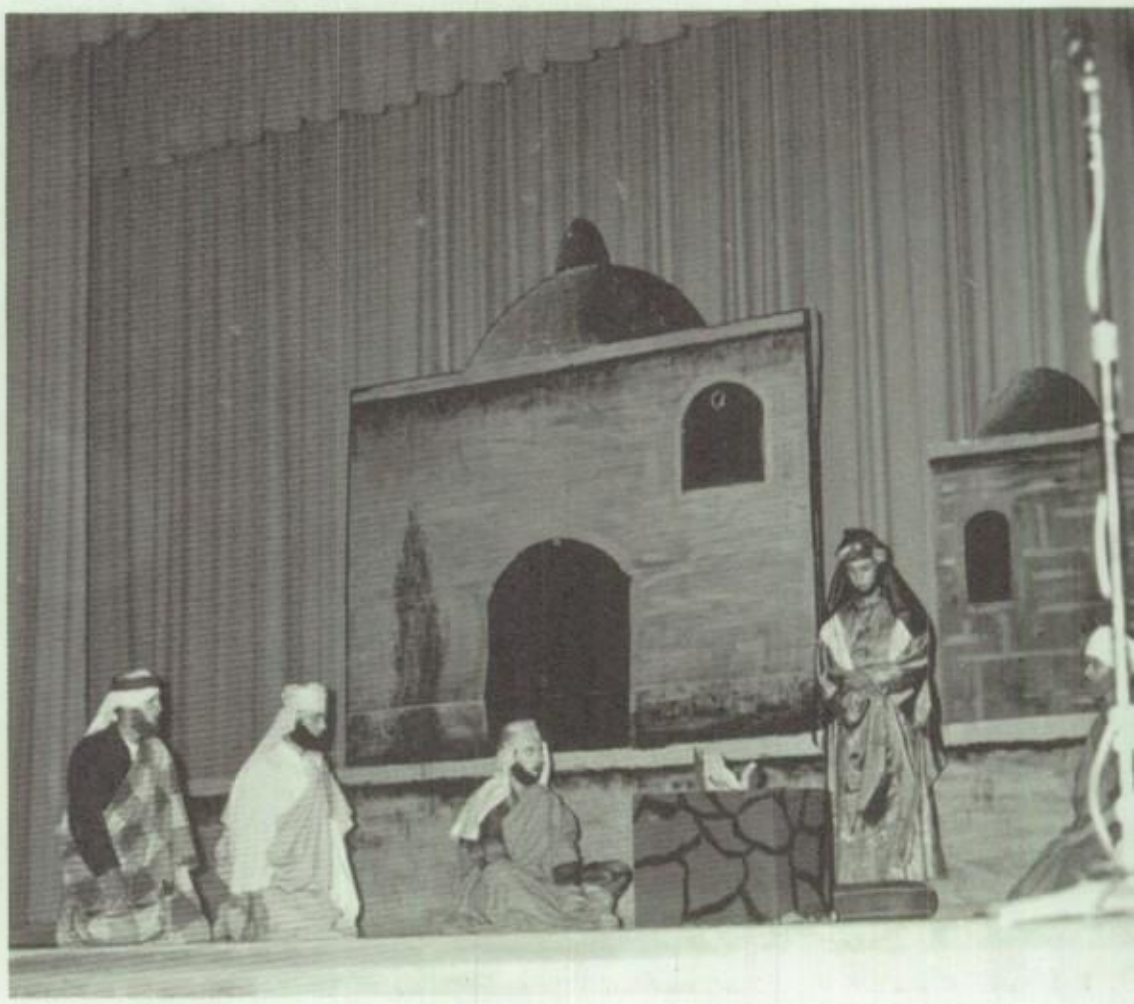
Globetrotters demonstrate agility and humor.

"Hear, Ye . . . Hear, Ye!" calls Joan on G.T.A. fantasy.

Assemblies



C'est tres bien! Sophomores.



Senior's portrayal of "The Other Wiseman."

Sleepy heads snored happily on Junior assembly.

Pert and pretty "Melody Jones."

Melody Jones

Tears, laughter, and thoughtfulness swayed appreciative audiences to fit the mood of "Melody Jones," a comedy drama. As an added attraction Ruth and Nathan Hale, co-authors, returned to help polish the production.

Dancers swirled in a gay Pari' atmosphere to the soft music of the K. B. Quintet. Creating the mood of an "Evening in Paris," the sophomores enhanced their theme by presenting exotic French perfume. Picturesque and enchanting were the lasting impressions of this memorable dance.

Sophomore Dance

proved Sophomore's talents

Senior Dance

gave warmth to the winter season

Shimmering snowflakes under luminous lighting brought Winterlude, the theme of the annual Senior Dance, into reality. Fun and excitement amidst the pale winter scenery added a warm note to the cold, winter season. Music, serene and romantic was provided by a nine-piece orchestra, and gay Christmas corsages were presented to each lovely girl.

Harvest Ball

displayed exciting colors

Colorful decorations enhanced the Harvest Ball with all the warmth and excitement of a romantic autumn evening. Dancers glided blithely among the fallen leaves to catch the image of the fading season. Sponsored by the F.H.A. and Ag. Clubs, this year's Autumn dance was a brilliant highlight in the social life at Granger.

Sweetheart Ball

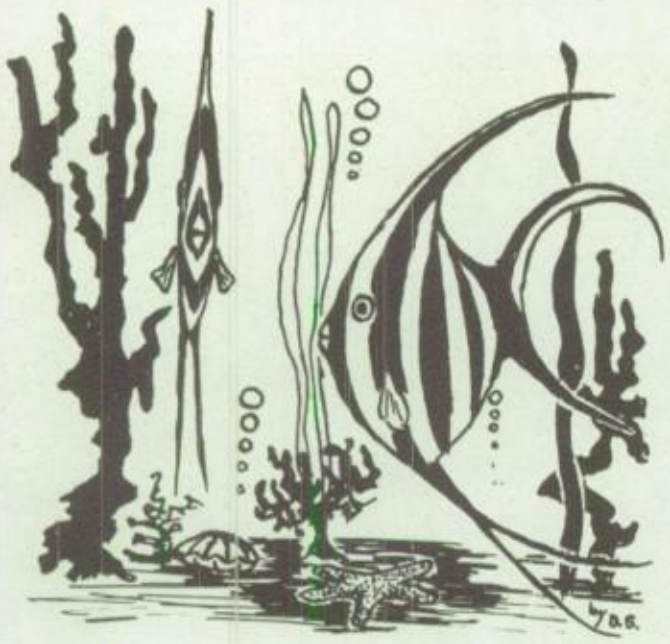
delighted many couples

"I must be Dreaming," the Girl's Teen Association dance, delighted one of the largest crowds of the year. A delicate pink and white heart served as an inviting entrance to the refreshment room. A setting for the land of fantasy was fashioned with a pink medieval castle in one corner, and an airy pink ceiling centered with a fluffy white heart.

Junior Prom

Junior Prom creates "Aquatic Enchantment"

Billows of a wine-dark sea cast shadows upon dancing couples as they descended into a mood of "Aquatic Enchantment." Above, the moon captivated onlookers as it radiated against cascades of foaming tide. Highlighted by the crowning of a queen and her two attendants, the Junior Prom, presented by the class of '63, was a creation of beauty and imagination. King Neptune and his under-water companions will be a lasting memory for all Granger Lancers.



Student Honors

proved learning rewarding

Tedious hours of intensive study . . . fortitude following failure . . . have contributed to widely varied achievements for many ambitious students. Through their efforts for excellence, these students have not only acquired honors for themselves, but also recognition for Granger High.

Foreign Exchange

promoted International relations

Foreign tradition and charm spiced this year at Granger, as the Lancers adopted two AFS representatives, Gitte Brix-Hansen from Denmark and Christina Montejo from Colombia. The foreign exchange program is designed to promote good will and a better understanding between America and other nations of the world. The girls shared with us some of their native customs and ideas while they learned of those in this country. Once back in their homelands, they will treasure their experience and fondly reminisce of their American family and friends.

Football

season sees Lancer action

Throughout the 1961-62 gridiron season, Granger's football squads exhibited determination and spirit. Pre-season play revealed a close game with South on Alumni Day. League play began with a 12-0 win over Bingham Miners. Later in the season, the mighty Lancers struggled with the number one Jordan team for a near win. Granger led throughout the first three periods until a few decisive plays pushed Jordan ahead. During the year, Seniors endeavored to earn their final recognition; Juniors trained to head next year's pigskin crew; and Sophomores, though inexperienced, came through to show real promise for Granger High.

Another Basketball season was recorded in Lancer history as Granger's Tri-color quintet nosed into the state tournament games. Season action provided excitement to cage fans as Granger defeated Murray in a second game on the neutral Olympus floor sending them to state with a regional third place. Team skill and school spirit united to gain a victory over the undefeated Provo Bulldogs and a second triumph over the Bingham Miners. Then, moving into semi-finals, Granger tested skill against Jordan and finally placed sixth in state competition.

Wrestling

was spotlighted by success

With determination and enthusiasm, Granger's matmen brought wrestling into the spotlight. The team had five wins and one loss. Interest grew as three Lancers placed at State meets — Sunny Montoya took first place with 120 points; Wayne McAllister, second with 133 points; and Ray Byrd, fourth with 154 points. These scores put Granger in fourth position.

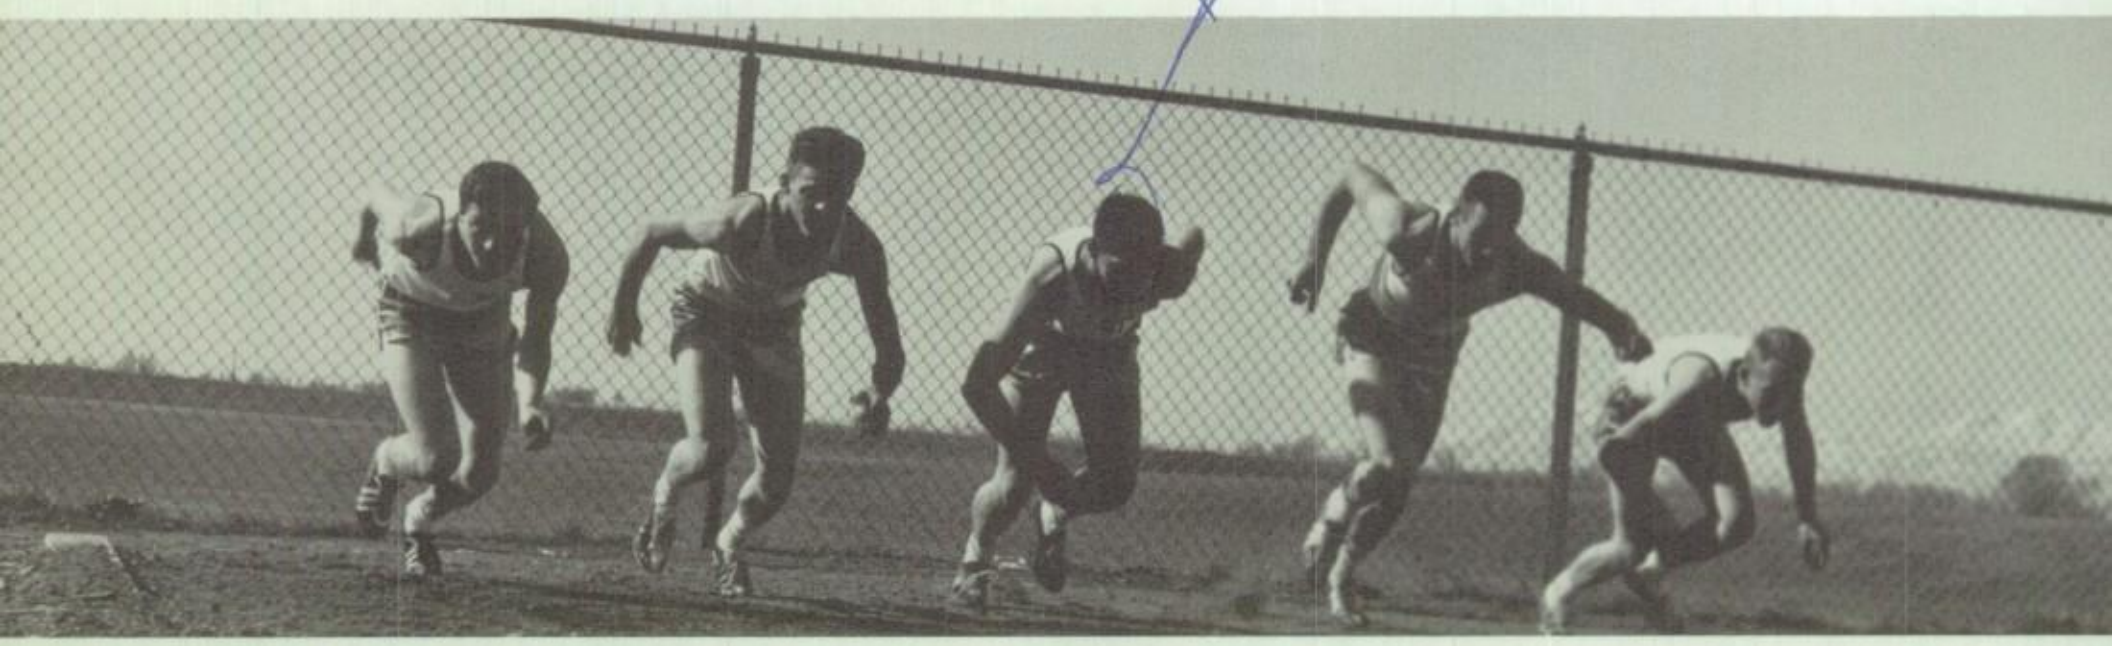
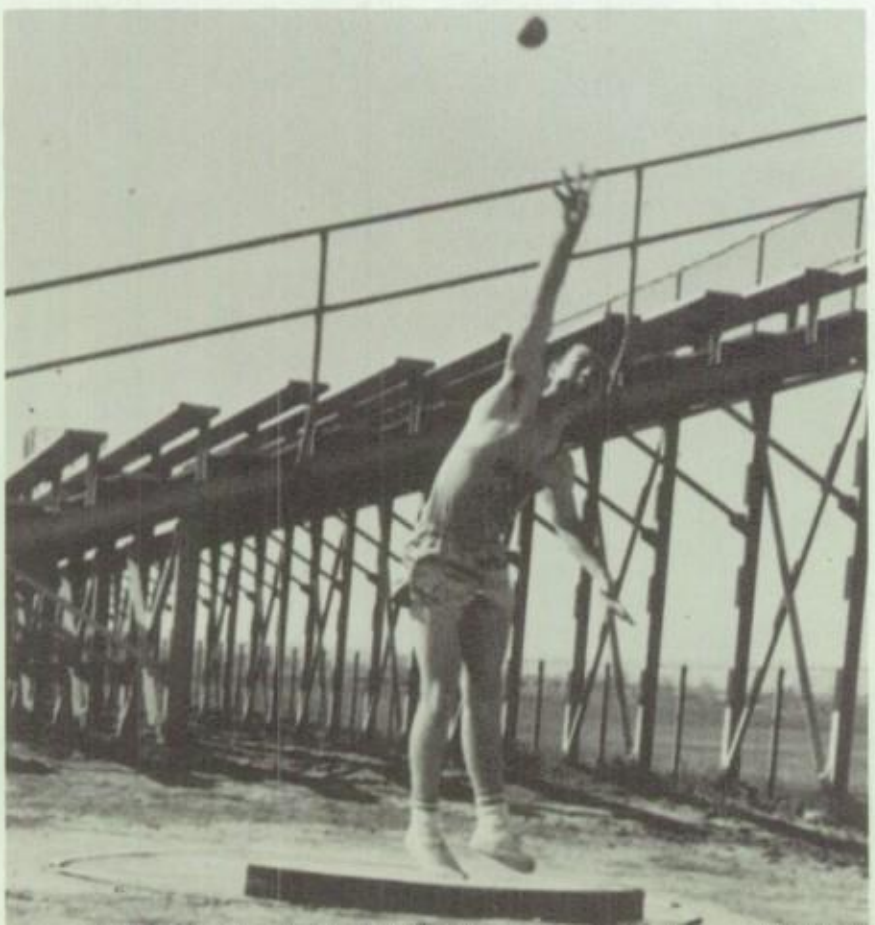
Track

develops ancient skills





Spring weather was welcomed by anxious trackmen. Hours of after school training in high jumping, broad jumping, pole vaulting, and running helped the cindermen develop skill and stamina in these fetes. As the largest of Granger's track teams participated in several meets, Coach Handy gave vital instruction and encouragement.

Returning lettermen

The baseball team came swinging in to begin another season on the diamond. Returning lettermen assured the Lancers a well-rounded team while the new rookies added spark. Batting against a pitching machine and rubber balls developed keen eyes and quick reflexes. The "Big Nine" spoke softly and carried a big stick.

Baseball entered sport scene

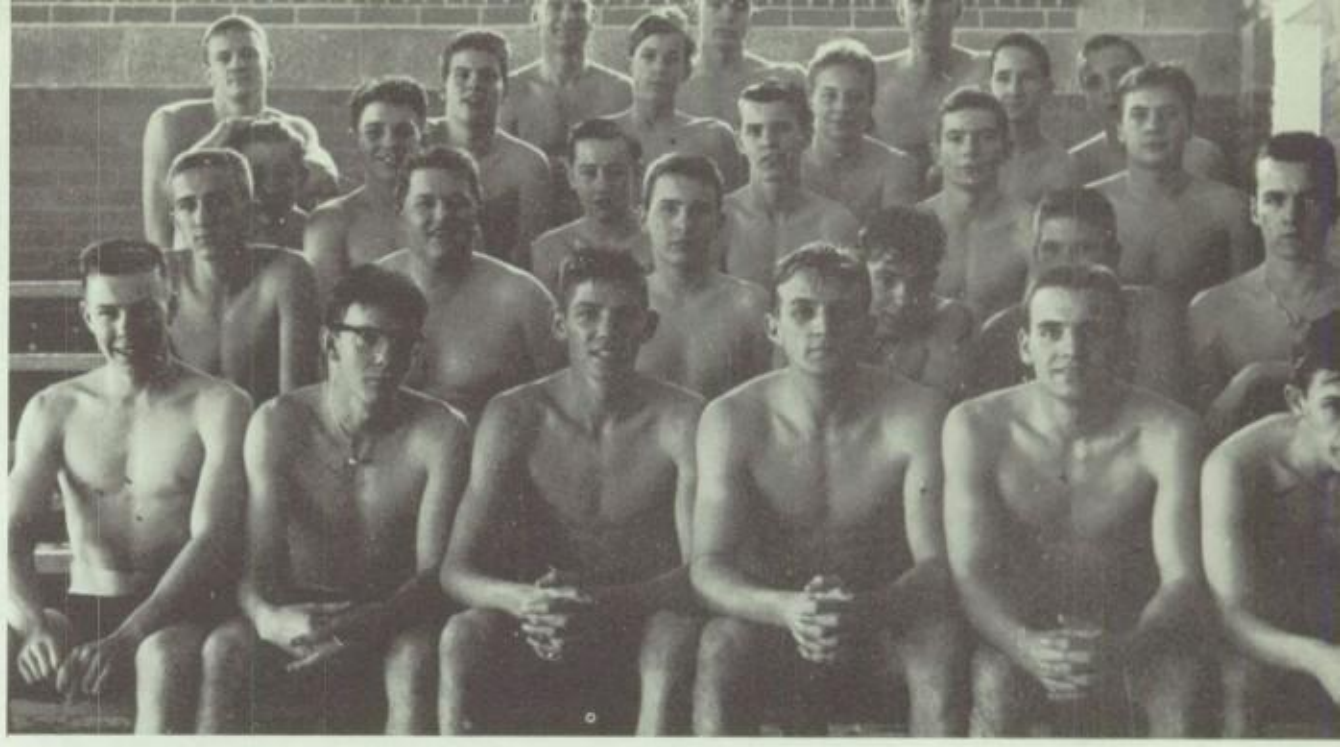
Left to Right, Row One: Sunny Montoya, Steve Davis, Gene Warr, Vaughn Tucker, Brent Hathaway, Tim Longston. Standing: Coach Smuin, Ketil Moksnes, Tom Malm, Noland Bergstrom, Jerry Palmer, Doug Hesse, Marv Wood, John Peel, Howard Formissano, Steve Emery, Bill Jorgenson, Asst. Coach Sylvester.

Inconvenienced by the lack of a pool, the Granger High swimming team sojourned each Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings to the Cyprus tank in Magna. With the experienced assistance of Coach Thorum and Coach Bawden, the team improved greatly over the season, showing especially strong in the free-style races. In region competition with Granite and East, Granger placed six swimmers in the state finals at Tooele . . . the 400, 200, 100 yard free-style races, the individual medley, and diving.



Left to Right, Row One: Neil Lund, Richard Evans, Phil Arnold, Mike Smith, Pete Gortat, Delyn Harwood. Row Two: Bill Thomas, Colin Hilton, Stephen Petersen, Russell Mouritso, Bill Christensen, Charles Lambert. Row Three: Ray Gray, Gary Despain, Gary Bowcutt, Richard Engstrum, Keith Morgan, Sheldon Buckalew. Row Four: Johnny Morriss, Don Hoefling, Dave Thurman, Ken Light, Robert Neff, Jesse Smith. Row Five: Mr. Bawden, Assistant Coach; Prescott Hardy, Mr. Thorum, Coach.

Swimming

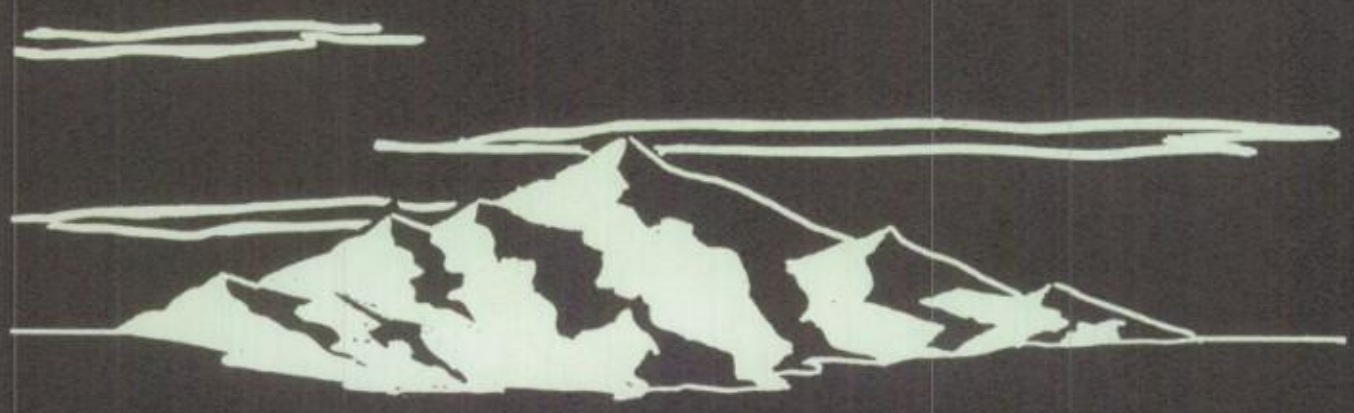
Tennis

demanded speed and coordination

Tennis once again proved its popularity as a large number of participants turned out for practice under Coach Snow this spring. Speed and coordination were the rewards for many hours of hard work. Racketeers consider this sport number one for enjoyment and relaxation.

Left to Right, Row One: Wayne Larabee, Lynn Jones, Gary Powell, Rick Angus, Rayburn Kennard, Drew Peterson, Roland Crosby, Gary Jones, Robert Barber. Standing: Lamont Bawden, Don Jensen, Eugene Crookston, Tom Wilkers, Steve Heaton, Ken Light, Bill Jenkins, Gary Kennard, Leigh Cropper, Joe South, Neil Lund, Eddy Hofeling, Gregory Heaton, Clay Peterson, Coach Snow.

Each Man As My Brother . . .



Classes

Time passes quickly for seniors and for the class of "62" it made no exception. As graduation neared, the members of this talented group recalled with laughter their first inception into high school life. Memories of class parties, dances, and assemblies along with homework, tests, and report cards will always evoke nostalgic thoughts. The years at Granger have helped to mature the ideas and emotions of these students, preparing them for life in an adult world.

Cooperation and unity were keys which opened the door to a successful Junior year. Humorous class assemblies, the unforgettable party, and the elegant Junior Prom, Aquatic Enchantment, will be significant recollections of days at Granger High. Through the combined efforts of the officers and sponsors, the entire Junior Class has set an example of ability and leadership. Peering through the keyhole they now visualize an even better Senior year.

Last September over five hundred fifty enthusiastic yet apprehensive sophomores packed the halls and classrooms at Granger to begin the most decisive years of their school life. Coming from many different areas, they united to display lively school spirit, impressive class assemblies, and successful athletic teams. Highlighting activities for these students was an Evening in Paris, the annual Sophomore Ball. Well-chosen officers and sponsors directed a year of fun, friendship, and development for this class of '64.

In Memoriam

Mr. Newell A. Call

To a beautiful young charming young scholar
Mr. Newell A. Call

The world stands out on either side
No wider than the heart is wide;
Above the world is stretched the sky,
No higher than the soul is high.
The heart can push the sea and land
Farther away on either hand;
The soul can split the sky in two,
And let the face of God shine through.
But East and West will pinch the heart
That cannot keep them pushed apart;
And he whose soul is flat—the sky
Will cave in on him by and by.

From Renascence by Edna St. Vincent Millay

BARB

TO A DAMN SWEET AND HARD KID! YOUR A GOOD KID BARB AND I THINK THE WORLD OF YA. I HAD A HELLOFA LOTA FUN WHEN WE WENT TOGETHER TOO BAD THINGS DIDNT WORK OUT BETER. NO KIDDING BARB, YOU ARE ABOUT THE BEST DRINKING PARTNER ANY BOY COULD HAVE.

SIX MONTHS IS A LONG TIME. MAYBE WE CAN KEEP IN TOUCH BY MAIL! IT WOULD BRIGHTEN MY WHOLE DAY TO RECEIVE A LETTER FROM YOU. MAYBE WHEN I AM HOME ON LEAVE WE COULD "MAKE IT" TO A COUPLE OF PLACES.

SERIOUSLY BARBARA, I WISH LUCK AND SUCCESS IN EVERYTHING YOU ATTEMPT. I HOPE YOU FIND WHAT EVER YOURE LOOKIN FOR; WHAT EVER THAT IS

GOD BLESS YOU & I, MAINLY CAUSE WE BOTH DESERVE IT. (ME MORE THAN YOU)

TAKE CARE OF ALL YOUR SALT LAKE PALS AND BE SOBER AT LEAST ONCE A WEEK!
